Biography

ANDI CRIST was born in Birmingham, Alabama and received her BFA from Columbia College Chicago in 2011. She is the co-founder and executive director of Autotelic, a fiscally sponsored nonprofit community studio located in Logan Square. Crist's furniture and works on paper are conceptually rooted in themes of domesticity and nesting. These works engage questions around function versus decorative through formal exercises and fabricated narratives. Typical mediums include site-specific installations, printed multiples and small-scale sculpture.
