An Evening at Columbia College

RISK considers the interdependent role of empathy and risk in socially engaged art as practiced by Chicago contemporary artists. The exhibition focuses on artists who work in a public arena to foster connections between individuals and to activate communities. The work is divergent in medium, content and scope, but shares an interest in initiating and negotiating relationships through personal interaction. Working with cultural partners and sites across the city, RISK highlights some of the most exciting projects emerging in this field and explores artists’ motivations and viewers’ expectations of social art practice.

Curated by Amy M. Mooney and Neysa Page-Lieberman, with collaboration from Hyde Park Art Center, 6018North, and Rebuild Foundation Generously supported by a grant from The Joyce Foundation.
